Allies Launch Attacks On VC

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Allied forces started the new year off Saturday with two attacks on Viet Cong dug in north of Saigon, but the Communists mounted an offensive of their own in the Southern delta region.

For the eighth straight day, U.S. and Vietnamese planes held off their attacks against North Viet Nam. A military spokesman said, "No more are contemplated for the moment."

Hanoi radio charged, however, that U.S. aircraft "repeatedly intruded" into the air space of North Viet Nam Saturday "for spying and provocative activities."

Plane Shot Down
The Red broadcast claimed a pilotless U.S. plane was shot down in the HA Bac area about 20 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Hanoi radio has accused the United States of such intrusions several times since the raids were suspended.

But on the ground the allies seized the initiative after a week of taking hit-run jabs from the Viet Cong.

Vietnamese and Korean troops launched a pre-dawn attack near Tuy Hoa, 240 miles northeast of Saigon. They reported killing 65 Viet Cong, capturing four suspects and seizing 100 bags of rice, main ration of the guerrillas.

Search Swampland
U.S. and Vietnamese paratroops continued searching for Viet Cong through swampland 35 miles northwest of Saigon where 125 guerrillas were reported killed and 63 captured Friday.

The paratroopers captured 26 weapons in the operation including two mortars and two heavy machine guns.

The Communists made their strike in the delta province of Vinh Dinh about 85 miles southwest of Saigon where it had been quiet for some time.

A Vietnamese regional force in the area suffered heavy losses when hit by a Red outfit, of unknown size. Reinforcements were sent in along with flare-ships and other support.

No Contact In North
The quietest area was in the northern end of South Viet Nam where U.S. Marines fanned out in 290 patrols but reported no contact with the enemy.

U.S. Air Force Secretary Harold Brown, who arrived in Viet Nam Saturday, watched a raid by Guam-based B52s. Brown flew in a C47 observation plane while the big bombers plastered suspected Red jungle hideouts 37 miles north of the capital.

The fury of battle subsided around Quang Ngai, provincial capital 330 miles northwest of Saigon.

Battered government forces at Quang Ngai were digging in again after being uprooted from long-held positions.

Government casualties at Minh Long outpost, 15 miles south of Quang Ngai, and Hill 66, 15 miles westward, were believed heavy.

The Viet Cong quit Hill 66 after taking it, but Minh Long post remained in Red hands.
The Communists kept out of sight in many areas rousing speculation that they were resting and regrouping for a new offensive.

Death Toll Nears High For Holiday

The New Year weekend traffic death toll rose rapidly toward a record high Saturday, well ahead of last New Year, behind the rate of the recent Christmas holiday period.

The count had reached 351 by 4 p.m.

Rain fell in many areas of the nation but the weather generally was not as bad as during Christmas weekend.

The National Safety Council estimated before the New Year holiday that between 350 and 440 persons would be killed in the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Sunday.

An Associated Press survey of a recent non-holiday weekend of the same time span as the current showed 420 deaths in traffic.

In the three-day New Year celebration last year, the traffic death toll reached 474, a record.

Recurring the highway death and injury toll this Christmas, and expecting additional losses over New Year, two Democratic senators have called for urgent prevention action.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut and Robert F. Kennedy of New York issued this joint statement:

"This Christmas brought tragedy and suffering to thousands of American homes. During this otherwise happy season, the rising traffic accident rate reinforces the need for better solutions of our traffic safety problems."

They recalled that they had introduced during the last session of Congress a bill to authorize establishment of a national highway traffic safety center where safety ideas and aid to states in improving driving programs would be tested.

GOLDBERG RETURNS FOR FAMILY RITES

CHICAGO (AP) — President Johnson's special envoy Arthur J. Goldberg wound up his Viet Nam talks with world leaders Saturday to fly to Chicago for the funeral of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Esther Kurgans, who died Friday night. She was 83.

Goldberg cancelled a dinner with Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson to make the trip in a special Air Force jet after being informed of the death while carrying out his probe of possible Viet Nam peace moves.

An announcement said death was caused by complications following surgery.

THE YOUNG REFUGEES—Like a game of follow the leader, Vietnamese children march single file along a rice paddy to a safe area during U.S. Marine sweep through Viet Cong territory at Son Thang, 35 miles southwest of Da Nang. The children were found hiding in underground tunnels.

Peace Prospects Up Hopes For '66

NEW YORK (AP) — Fresh appeals for peace brought a new measure of hope to the world Saturday as it ended New Year's Eve revelry and looked forward to the coming 12 months.

As the last of the merry-makers reached home in many cities, the Vatican disclosed an extension of Pope Paul's personal campaign for peace in the Viet Nam war.

Appeals went to the Presidents of North and South Viet Nam and for the first time to the leaders of Communist China and the Soviet Union.

Back in the United States, the Texas White House announced that Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams was being sent to Africa as part of President Johnson's drive to explain this country's peace moves to world leaders.

In Hungary, Communist party chief Janos Kadar told his people in a New Year declaration that "we must fight for peaceful co-existence even amid the present circumstances in the international situation."

But the day was not completely devoted to solemn statements. Sixteen thousand men—no women allowed—marched in the annual Mummies Day parade in Philadelphia and an estimated million persons watched.

The line of march was so long it took nearly five hours to pass one point from start to finish. Residents of Rome put on such a big New Year's Eve celebration that 100 persons had to visit hospitals for treatment of fireworks burns and broken bones.

The broken bones came from a hail of trash that fell into the streets at midnight. Romans traditionally usher in the New Year by throwing accumulated junk—bottles, boxes, even old sinks—out their windows.

In Spain, where they hate to end a good time, downtown streets were still dotted with trash. The Thai armed forces attacked, with support of helicopters and mortars, is one of the series launched by Thailand, under U.S. direction and with the help of Cambodian rebels.

Cheo San, secretary of state for information said after releasing the government statement, the radio said.

For example, a file clerk or watchman who earns about $3,300 a year will have about $2,650 deducted from his weekly paycheck this year; last year the deduction was $2,300 a week.

In every case the increased tax must be matched by the employer. Self-employed persons pay roughly half again the employee's rate; for them the top tax will be $405.90 in 1966, compared to $259.20 last year.

And excise tax reductions totaling $1.7 billion, also effective Saturday, will offset about one-third of the impact of the Social Security increase.

These cuts are the second step in the excise tax repeal law signed last June. In this stage, the 10 per cent tax on phone calls is cut to 3 per cent; the 7 per cent new car excise is dropped to 6 per cent; the cabaret, club and general admissions taxes are eliminated, and the excise on matches and a few other items are repealed.

New York Paralyzed By Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's largest city started 1966 Saturday with a new mayor, record heat, and a subway and bus strike that could produce 15 million headaches by Monday midnight.

The new mayor, Republican John V. Lindsay, canceled much of his own inaugural celebration and demanded a crackdown on the strike, which he declared illegal.

Supreme Court Justice Owen McGovern signed an order requiring the 33,000-member AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union and its president, Michael J. Quill, to demonstrate at 2 p.m. Monday why they should not be punished for ignoring an injunction against the strike.

Quill earlier tore up the injunction, defying its threat of jail and a fine. He predicted a long strike and blamed it on Lindsay.

The walkout, called at 5 a.m., was 100 per cent effective.

Yet on this quiet, balmy New Year's Day it was hardly noticeable to some persons. The temperature hit a record 62 early in the afternoon. Holiday crowds roamed midtown Manhattan streets, and taxi cabs seemed readily available. Some restaurants, usually open on holidays, remained closed and some served only coffee and rolls because employees failed to report for work.

Getting in from other boroughs was almost impossible, except by auto. One bus line was operating in Queens, ferries ran between Manhattan and Staten Island, and commuter trains and buses operated to the suburbs.

Lindsay and Traffic Commissioner Henry Barnes began planning for Monday morning, when commuters from the metropolitan area of 15 million people pour in. Lindsay pleaded for elimination of unnecessary driving, and car pooling.

"When and if we get city streets locked up where nothing can move, and if we have a serious fire or something, we could have a major catastrophe," warned Barnes.

He is a holdover from the administration of Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who left Friday for a Mexican vacation, saying, "It's Lindsay's baby now."

Quill walked out on negotiations Saturday midnight, calling the Transit Authority's last-minute offer of a $25-million package over two years "peanuts."

The $25 million figure was based, the authority said, on a 3.2 per cent increase, the non-inflationary limit set by President Johnson.

The authority said it delayed submitting an offer because Quill's demands totaled $680 million and were unrealistic. Quill never put a money figure on his demands.

They included a reduction in the work week from five to four eight-hour days, and a 30 per cent wage boost.

Pay scales, highest for any major city, range from $2.75 an hour for change booth clerks to $3.50 for signal maintainers. Subway motormen get $3.46 and bus drivers earn $3.22.

In the final hours of pre-strike talks, Quill, 60, heaped abuse on Lindsay, 44, calling him a "pipsqueak" and a "juvenile."

Saturday he said Lindsay "made such an ass of himself."

World Leaders Strive For Viet Settlement

American Diplomats Received

LONDON (AP) — U.S. presidential envoy Arthur J. Goldberg conferred on Viet Nam Saturday night with Prime Minister Harold Wilson and both said a negotiated settlement of the war is inevitable. They spoke out as peace appeals were sent to Red China and the Soviet Union from Pope Paul VI.

In Yugoslavia, W. Averell Harriman, another U.S. troubleshooter, delivered a message from President Johnson to President Tito and they talked for two hours.

De Gaulle Comments
In Paris, President Charles de Gaulle, who met Goldberg Friday, declared that peace could come to Viet Nam only if all interested countries renounce armed intervention.

At the same time, the Texas White House announced two new moves in what the administration calls a widespread series of peace-seeking missions.

It said Asst. Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams has been dispatched to Africa to convey U.S. views and hopes to leaders there.

It also said Undersecretary of State Thomas C. Mann has just completed a secret mission to Mexico City, where he conferred on Viet Nam with president Gustavo Diaz Ordaz.

Humphrey In Asia
On the other side of the world, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey skirted the Bamboo Curtain, hammering home a message that the United States is willing to talk peace at any place or time but that it will not sell out South Viet Nam.

But from Hanoi, Peking and Moscow there was no direct public reaction to either the Pope's appeals to Moscow and Peking as well as to North and South Viet Nam or the U.S. Viet Nam missions.

Wilson went into his meeting with Goldberg after telling newsmen that the British "are desperately anxious to try every means open to us to get the parties to the conference table."

"No Military Solution"
"Sooner or later there must be a realization that there cannot be a military solution to this problem," Wilson said. "When this is realized everyone will be ready to come to the conference table."

Goldberg told newsmen that any question of a U.S. withdrawal from Viet Nam is a matter for "unconditional negotiation."

"This conflict will be settled some day and it had better be sooner than later," Goldberg said.

Wilson cut short a New Year's vacation in the Scilly Islands and flew to London for the meeting with Goldberg.

Asked about Communist North Viet Nam's apparently negative response to his efforts, Wilson said:

"We have heard these negative responses every time we have tried to get a line through to Hanoi and it has been consistently disappointing throughout the year."

One reporter asked Wilson if the U.S. initiative was at a "critical" stage.

"The danger of this war spreading and its continuance with the horrors involved means that any attempt to get peace is critical," the prime minister replied.

"If we fail tonight or tomorrow I hope we go on trying."

Johnson Seeks Firm Progress Toward Peace

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson is ready to begin Viet Nam peace talks without insisting on any quick solution. He is willing to seek gradual, step-by-step progress toward an eventual settlement.

This significant disclosure of Johnson's attitude came from sources close to the President, who provided newsmen of the Texas White House with a far-ranging New Year's day summary of his views on foreign and domestic affairs.

Johnson was pictured as approaching 1966 in a conciliatory frame of mind — anxious to see agreement achieved on many fronts, but notably in Southeast Asia.

Expects Gradual Solution
The chief executive was said to believe that, just as deep-seated domestic problems move gradually toward solutions, the same approach might be applied to such international problems as the war in Viet Nam.

These sources said that, where Viet Nam is concerned, Johnson believes propaganda from both sides has clouded the issues so much that neither side knows where the other stands.

They also reported the President blames himself and his administration for what he views as a failure to convince Hanoi and Peking of his sincere desire for peace.

Johnson's attitude toward negotiations — the immediate goal of a concerted American peace offensive — was summed up this way:

Attitudes May Change
Many major differences are negotiated in domestic politics. Although immediate solutions are not always final, small steps are taken in the right direction, time passes and the attitudes of the negotiators toward one another change, however slowly, however imperceptibly.

Johnson was said to recognize that ultimate solutions often are not those discussed at the negotiating table, that as difficult problems are given a hard look, new and creative ways of approaching them often emerge.

It was stated specifically that Johnson believes this process can be applied internationally as well as domestically.

Perhaps significantly, the sources who reported the President's views did not mention possible escalation of the war should peace efforts fail. In fact, they declined to discuss that possibility.

Some other highlights of Johnson's views, as passed along to newsmen:

May Visit Europe
The President hopes to undertake some foreign travel this year and a visit to French President Charles de Gaulle in Paris might be included, though no plans have been fixed.

The next step forward for the American Negro will be the achievement of true brotherhood with other Americans of all races — something Johnson views as the most difficult step of all.

The Dominican Republic crisis deflected the hemisphere from its general movement toward economic and social progress and the strengthening of democratic institutions. Yet it had such positive aspects as restoring law and order and keeping alive the alternative of a middle-of-the-road government there.

The President's greatest disappointment of 1965 stemmed from the frustrations he faced in Viet Nam. He drew greatest satisfaction from civil rights progress.

Views Russ Relations
Johnson also was disappointed by the absence of progress toward improved American-Soviet relations, and wants to get on with that job.

Pope Asks Chinese, Russ Aid

VATICAN CITY (AP)—In a dramatic New Year's extension of his personal peace campaign, Pope Paul VI Saturday appealed for the first time to Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung and Soviet President Niko-lai V. Podgorny to help end the Viet Nam war.

The pontiff sent messages direct to Peking and Moscow, along with appeals to President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam and Nguyen Van Thieu, chief of state of South Viet Nam.

Each was encouraged to promote negotiations and "a just solution" for ending the fighting and bringing permanent peace.

The messages went forth just two days after Pope Paul and U.S. presidential envoy Arthur J. Goldberg conferred on Viet Nam.

Goldberg Given Message
The Vatican, in releasing the French texts of the messages sent Friday night, also said Goldberg got a papal message to bring back to President Johnson. Its contents were not made known here.

"The prestige China has today rightly draws to itself the world's attention," the Pope told Mao. He said he hoped Mao would "help favor a just solution safeguarding the independence" of Viet Nam.

"An intervention on China's part would honor her in the eyes of humanity and would permit a hard-tested people to resume in peace the work of reconstruction made impossible by the continuation of the war," said the Pope.

Seeks "Just Solution"
He asked Podgorny, too, to favor "a just solution." The papal message to Moscow mentioned that the Russians had felt suffering and sorrow in World War II.

Said Pope Paul:

"We are convinced that an intervention of your government would honor your government before history."

"It could weigh greatly in leading the belligerents to a cessation of hostilities as a prelude to a final pacification."

The pontiff's words to Hanoi urged against "resumption of violent combat and bombardment."

In the Saigon message Pope Paul said he gladly welcomed the Christmas truce and the suspension of bombing runs over North Viet Nam.

"All Out Effort"
The Pope told Ho he was insistent that "nothing be neglected to attain a peace so deeply desired and which so deliver humanity from a terrible menace." He said his New Year's wish was for a peace marking "the start of a long period of peaceful activity."

In a similar vein, the pontiff said to Thieu, that he hoped "nothing will be ignored to spare new sufferings and sorrows."

He praised the Christmas Day cease-fire and the withholding of further bombings of the North since then.

Observers here saw a mood of confidence and guarded optimism in the way the messages were phrased. The Pope gave each of the four leaders his New Year's wishes, referring to the Russians and the Vietnamese as people "dear to us."

African Government Overthrown

BANGKOK, Central African Republic (AP) — Col. Jean Bedel Bokassa, the army chief of staff, overthrew the government of President David Dacke early Saturday and proclaimed himself head of state.

Bokassa announced over the state radio: "Since 3:20 a.m. your army has taken over the power of the state. The Dacke government has resigned. The hour of justice has sounded."

The portly former French officer who was promoted to colonel just a year ago declared, "The bourgeoisie has been abolished and a new era of equality among all citizens has been installed."

The implications of this last statement were not immediately apparent. Life in the capital appeared normal for a New Year's Day except for occasional military patrols.

The cafes were crowded and pedestrians waved to passing paratroopers. There were no immediate reports of property confiscation.

Dacke, a former school teacher, had been president of the landlocked country since 1960. His whereabouts were not known. There were reports that most of his ministers were under arrest.

Unconfirmed reports said the colonel had ordered Communist Chinese technical aid groups to leave the country within 24 hours.

A nation a little larger than France, the Central African Republic has a population of some 1.2 million. Its principal economic staple is cotton.

The coup has staged with little bloodshed, though there were shots heard in the capital until after dawn. One Frenchman, an engineer, was killed, apparently in the shooting, and three Germans were injured.

Biggest Obstacle Remains In Civil Rights Movement

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson believes the next step forward for the American Negro—and probably the hardest of all—will be achievement of true brotherhood with the white majority.

Johnson looked back Saturday over events on the home front during 1965 and, according to White House sources, found nothing that gave him more personal satisfaction than progress in civil rights.

Making Progress
The President is said to believe with pride that, during his 25 months in office, more laws have been enacted — and forceful laws — in behalf of Negro rights than in all previous American history. He had in mind particularly the Voting Rights Act of 1965 and the Civil Rights Law of 1964.

In Johnson's mind, these statutes mark the end of one quest — for liberty and equality — and the beginning of another — a search for fraternity.

He believes the new quest probably will be the most difficult. He bases this on a belief that it has largely been the Negro who has not fully shared the nation's plenty, has constituted the bulk of the urban poor, and has suffered most from inadequate education and housing and from substandard employment.

Sources close to Johnson said that, despite great progress in 1965 in the legal and political arena, Johnson thinks the achievement of fraternity for the Negro will take more than honest enforcement of the law.

He is said to regard this search for meaningful and co-operative association with fellow men of all races as the next crucial struggle in the cause of civil rights.

In Johnson's opinion, the Negro faced his problem in 1965 with remarkable restraint and dignity. With the exception of the Watts, Calif., riots, there were no widespread outbreaks of violence and the President notes that no chain reaction followed that outbreak.

Feeling a spotlight has been among the economic lessons Johnson believes the nation has learned: Recessions can be avoided through wise public and private policies, with management, labor and the government working together to maintain stability of costs and prices.

Year's First Paychecks Will Include Tax Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saturday began the painful part of gaining greater security in old age — paying for it.

With the first paychecks of the new year, Social Security deductions jump 60 per cent for every employee earning $6,600 or more. Employers must match the higher tax.

The tax is increased also, but less steeply, for those earning less than $6,600. The rate now is 4.2 per cent, instead of 3.625.

For some Americans the boost is big enough to hurt. A good many will find their annual Social Security tax larger than their income tax. And because of the steeper payroll costs, some employers may be slower to give wage increases.

The payments amount to a form of enforced saving and carry many benefits but these may not be realized for a long time for most taxpayers.

The threefold benefits were publicized by the time President Johnson signed the law last July 29. They are: a 7 per cent increase in pensions and disability benefits, retroactive to last Jan. 1; hospital coverage open to everyone 65 or older, starting next July 1; and an optional medical plan, costing $3 a month, covering much of the cost of medical treatment, also starting in mid-66.

In the medicare controversy, the payroll tax boost got little notice. Some wage earners may now be surprised at its size. The tax is not only at a higher rate, it also applies to the first $6,600 of income instead of the first $4,800.

Suppose you earn exactly $6,600 a year, which is fairly close to the median American income. Last year Social Security took $14.50 from your paycheck every month. This year it will take about $23.

The maximum tax—pay by those in the $6,600 and up bracket—is now $277.20 a year instead of $174. In 1967 it will climb to $290. By 1987 it will be $372.90.

For higher incomes, the total annual tax bite is the same as at $6,600: the withholding from each paycheck is larger, but the tax ceases after the first $6,600 has been taxed.

For example, the man who earns $13,200 a year will pay $46 for Social Security out of each monthly paycheck, instead of $29. But he will pay it for only the first six months of the year.

For a $20,000-a-year man, the monthly Social Security withholding will be close to $70 in stead of last year's $44, but it will stop after four months.

For workers at the lower end of the income scale the Social Security tax is not 60 per cent higher; it is about 15 per cent higher. This is because the lower-paid workers are not affected by the increase in earnings base to $6,600.

For example, a file clerk or watchman who earns about $3,300 a year will have about $2,650 deducted from his weekly paycheck this year; last year the deduction was $2,300 a week.

In every case the increased tax must be matched by the employer. Self-employed persons pay roughly half again the employee's rate; for them the top tax will be $405.90 in 1966, compared to $259.20 last year.

At FFA Conference

Two Morgan County youths, Tom Hembrough, seated, and John Hembrough, attended the Farm Bureau-FFA Conference on the campus of Illinois State University in Normal, December 28 to 30.

The meeting stressed farmer cooperatives and the ways in which farmers have developed services to improve rural living and profits. Conferees visited the home office of the Illinois Agricultural Association in Bloomington and discussed the cooperative way of doing business with staff members of the IAA and affiliated companies.

TRAPPER BAGS LARGE CATCH OF RACCOON PELTS

JERSEYVILLE — One of the largest deliveries of furs was made by Floyd Gardner of Jerseyville Monday when he disposed of 76 raccoon pelts to a Missouri buyer.

Gardner did not do any trapping this season but made all of his catches the hard way by following his coon hounds.

"Those 76 coon hides represented a lot of mileage," Gardner stated. "They will average better than one mile per hide for mileage walked."

Michigan State And Arkansas Suffer Bowl Upsets

UCLA Nips Mighty Spartans By 14-12

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—UCLA dropped its Beban football bomb on Michigan State Saturday, held off a gallant but belated comeback in the fourth quarter and upset the Spartans 14-12 in the Rose Bowl to knock them out of the unbeaten ranks and a possible national championship.

Beban is Gary Beban, UCLA's spectacular sophomore quarterback who rammed across two touchdowns in the second quarter and led the heroic and amazing Bruins to their first Rose Bowl victory in six appearances in the famed stadium.

Michigan State, undefeated in 10 regular season games and the Big Ten champions, suffered its first bowl loss in three visits, but few if any of the 100,087 fans left the place as the Spartans kept the suspense going until the final 31 seconds.

All-America quarterback Steve Juday, who had enjoyed little success all this bright, crisp afternoon, connected on a 42-yard pass to Gene Washington to set the stage for the first MSU touchdown, and Jim Raye, a last ditch replacement for Juday, pitched out to Bob Apisa, who rambled 38 yards for the touchdown.

Juday faked a place kick, attempted to pass and was hit in the act of throwing. With Juday and Raye alternating signals, the Spartans took advantage of a partially blocked UCLA punt and drove from midfield in 15 plays, where Juday punched across from six inches out.

On the two-point try to tie, Raye ran to his right, pitched out to Apisa, but the MSU dreams melted when two defensive standouts for UCLA, Bob Stiles and Dallas Grider, knocked him flat short of the end zone.

Until the dramatic closing moments, the game belonged to UCLA. They went into this 52nd annual postseason classic 14-0 point underdogs.

But it was UCLA by 14 at the half, and it appeared it would end 14-0 until the final quarter. The Bruins, champions of the Pacific Athletic Conference with a 7-2-1 seasonal record, scored twice in a space of three minutes, 10 seconds of the second period.

MSU defensive back Don Japenga fumbled a punt by Larry Cox and John Erquiaga recovered on the MSU six. Beban rolled to the left for five and to the right for the final yards. Kurt Zimmerman kicked the first of his two extra points.

UCLA bamboozled the Spartans on a successful on-side kick — just as they had done in their winning touchdown against Southern California to make it to the Rose Bowl.

Grider, as in the USC game, fell on the ball on the MSU 42, and five plays later the Bruins had what proved to be the winning touchdown.

Beban drilled a 27-yard pass through a crowd of Spartan defenders and hit Kurt Altenberg on the one-yard mark and then promptly went to his left for the touchdown.

Michigan State 0 0 0 12-12
UCLA 0 14 0 0-14

The New York Yankees beat the second place Chicago White Sox 10 times in 18 games during 1965.

Claims Punters Should Approach Ball At Angle

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—When Prof. Elizabeth Mortimer Roberts of the University of Wisconsin goes to a football game, she gets her kicks out of punting.

And so, she speaks with some authority when she says punters would do better to approach the ball at almost a right angle instead of straight-on.

Prof. Roberts' opinion is based on research experiments under her direction in the department of physical education at the university as well as personal observation. Although not an avid fan, she does attend Wisconsin games.

"Mainly I watch the punting," she said.

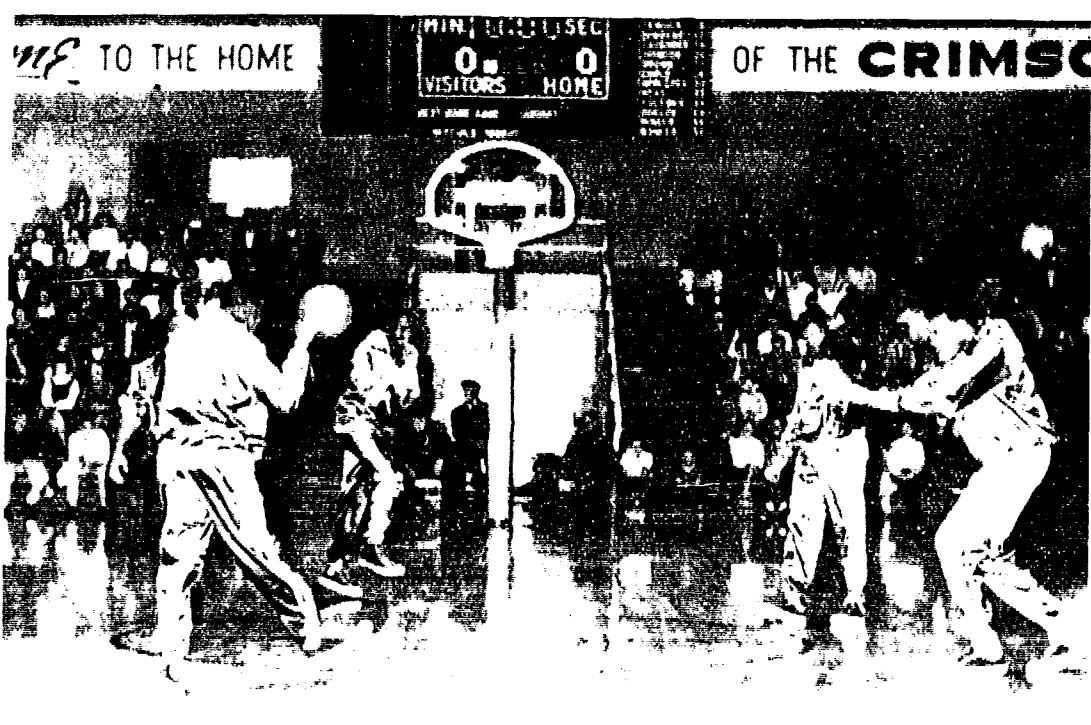

Her findings on the angled approach by punters came from filmed studies of movement patterns in kicking. The studies were made by some 30 students in advanced kinesiology classes. She didn't say if the films included the performances of the Gogolak brothers, who approach the ball from an angle and kick with their instep as in soccer.

Pete stars for the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League and Charley, who established records at Princeton, has been signed by the Washington Redskins of the National League.

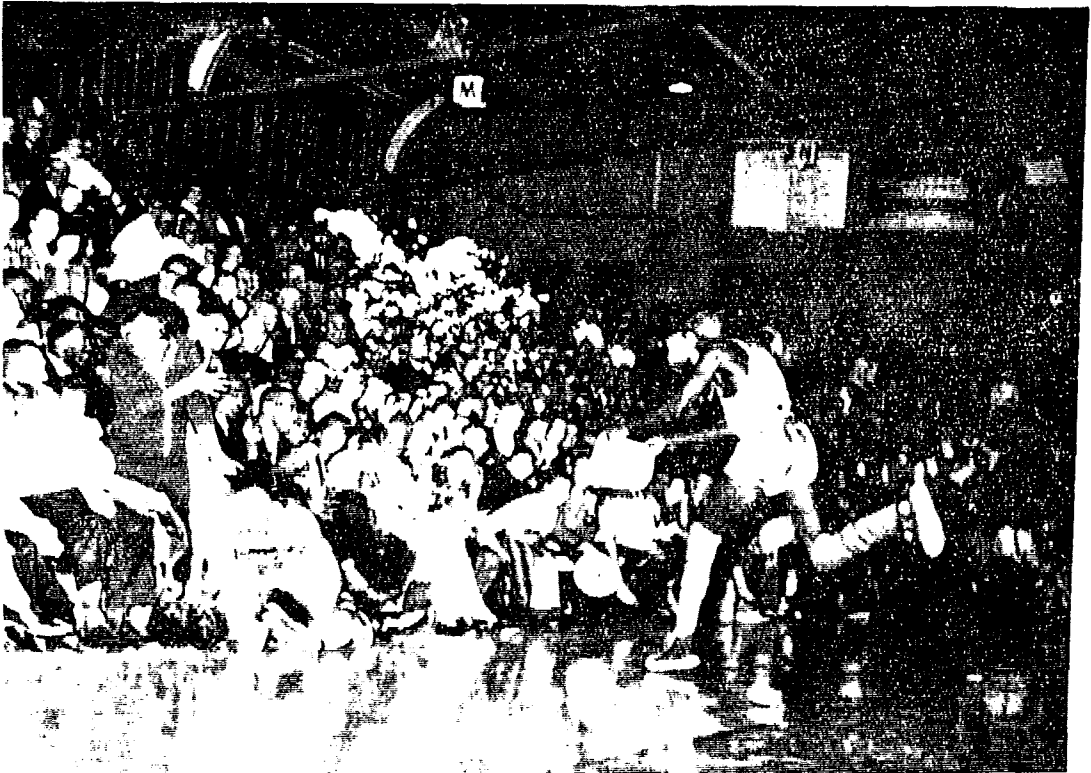

"When the kicker approaches the ball at an angle," said Prof. Roberts, "his hips turn, giving him leverage for more speed and force. This doesn't happen when you have the straight on approach."

Coaching texts generally direct the punter to meet the ball straight on and this method is usually practiced.

To insure the desired angle of impact, kickers in the experiments wear a series of tapes on legs and chest. A device nearby points to the desired direction of flight.

Smile! You're Now On Isolated Camera

By DAVE BURGIN

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK — (NEA) — Tony Verna is used to cracks and quips about his very special brainchild, the isolated camera technique of televised football.

Verna even laughs at some of the jokes. Like the one about the blonde who supposedly came away from her very first football game in "person disappointed because "the players didn't do the isolated replay."

"They laugh at computers, too," Verna said. "These jokes don't bother me at all."

They shouldn't. Not when you consider Verna's brainstorm has made him something of a giant in the deadly competitive circle of television sports, brought him a big promotion and nearly doubled his salary.

It didn't take the competition long to realize 32-year-old Tony Verna and CBS had a good thing.

The three major networks — CBS, NBC and ABC — plan all-out use of the isolated camera technique for the raft of bowl, all-star and pro games to be telecast.

The isolated camera (IC) revolutionized football viewing by making an increasingly complicated game easier to understand. It has given armchair fans something to see between plays besides commercials.

The IC, first used in the 1963 Army-Navy game, showed quarterback Rollie Stichweh scoring a touchdown.

"I wasn't sure it was such a good idea at first," Verna said. "But when I saw that Stichweh play on the monitor, I was convinced we had something."

So was CBS when it experimented with IC further in the Green Bay-Cleveland NFL game in January, 1964. ABC then began using IC in June of 1964 in the All-American game at Buffalo.

But NBC officials claimed foul, calling the IC "a gimmick" which they had already thought of and didn't want.

mainly because they thought the conservative NCAA would ban use of it in television college games. They changed their minds during the 1964 season.

"The idea of the IC is to show the cause and effect of a football play," Verna said. "The 'art' is in technical speed and judgment."

The champion Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the second place San Francisco Giants 10 times in 18 National League games last season.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, 1965 National League flag winners, tied the Pittsburgh Pirates for sixth place in 1964.

The upset of the year was when Dutch Van Brocklin resigned as coach of the Minnesota Vikings and didn't make it stick. He called his buddy Johnny McKay of USC the midnight word of his decision to quit.

If you want to know what kind of year it was in pro ball, just remember that the New York Giants voted for Pete Case as their player of the year. Oh yes, he's a guard on the off-

"The engineers and cameramen have to be quick to isolate a player on camera, rewind the video tape, then show it without cutting into the next live play."

"The director usually has two cameras—one mid-field and one end zone. "If you're anticipating a pass play, you've got to guess who the receiver will be," added Verna. "If you're keying on a defensive player, you've got to hope the play comes his way."

"When you 'hit,' the whole process usually takes about 15 seconds to get back on the air. "You have good and bad days. I remember one pro game when I was really hot. I called about 30 pass plays and keyed the right receiver 28 times."

"One guy watching the game in San Francisco wrote and told me I should be investigated."

Probably worked for NBC. Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale accounted for 64 of the Los Angeles Dodgers' 97 National League victories during 1965.

The Minnesota Twins, 1965 American League pennant winners, tied the Cleveland Indians for sixth place in 1964.

CLOWNING AROUND: Globetrotter Meadowlark Lemon gets ready to shoot a free throw with top hat and all. Lemon is the 'Trotters' current 'Clown Prince of Basketball' and kept spectators laughing most of the evening.

Year That Was

It was a good year... Bob Hope called me by my first name. Sid Gillman called me something else. ... Tony Lema was interviewed in a Beverly Hills steam room, his tattoo showing. Jill St. John—all she did was breathe.

Cookie Gilchrist told Jack Horner he was going skiing in Switzerland, and the AFL publicist told him he'd never have to worry about getting lost in a snowslide. Cookie laughed. ... The sports beat took me from the Grand Bahamas to Greece to Florida to Maine to California to Israel. It was a very good year. ... Personal highlights: Jack Nicklaus' great round of 64 in the Masters. Sandy Koufax dominating the World Series. Jimmy Brown superb as ever in a New York outing, rookie Gale Sayers humbling the Green Bay Packers. Buster Mathis shaking like jelly.

Paul Dickson, the defensive tackle of the Minnesota Vikings, voted for himself three times as the most valuable player in the National Football League and appended, "I am the greatest!" Wait'll Muhammad Ali hears that. ... The franklin, man in '65 was Emilen Tunnell, who broke the color line in coaching pro football, then confessed he didn't do for the gobbledygook dished out by pro coaches. No IBM cards for Emilen. I don't listen to 'em," he said. "I didn't pay much attention to the coaches when I was playing. The important thing for a defensive back is to know the personnel. Who's there?"

And in case anybody's wondering whatever happened to Pete Dawkins, Army's all-anything of a few years ago, he's in Viet Nam as an interpreter. ... For winning the American League pennant, Sam Mele, finally recouped the cut in salary that Calvin Griffith inflicted a year ago. But he didn't straighten out the mystery of why he's called Sam. You might think it's because his full name is Sabbath Anthony Mele (S.A.M.).

"But," says the manager of the Minnesota Twins, "the kids in Brooklyn started calling me Sam before I was christened Anthony."

If you want to know what kind of year it was in pro ball, just remember that the New York Giants voted for Pete Case as their player of the year. Oh yes, he's a guard on the off-sive unit, for the uninitiated. ... The biggest letdown of the year. It turns out that Joe Namath is making only a measly $25,000 a year playing quarterback for the New York Jets. Of course, that's only his salary. ... Maybe the Baltimore Colts had the wrong Matte in the line-up, though Tom did a courageous job trying to direct their attack in the playoff game against the Green Bay Packers. Little brother Bruce (actually bigger than Tom physically) is a bona fide quarterback prospect who'll be a senior at Miami to Israel. ... Little known fact: Tom Matte also liked a skin cancer on his nose a year ago. ... Between you'n me, just one resolution for 1966—auditing syne is right now, at least in the world of sports. ...

LSU Stops 'Hogs Win String, 14-7

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—College football's longest winning streak — 22 straight games — came to an end under the dreary skies of the Cotton Bowl Saturday as the Razorbacks rallied their defense for a glittering goal line stand and Doug Moreau missed a field goal from the Arkansas nine.

The tigers scored two touchdowns in the second period on three and one-yard smashes by the hammering LaBruzzi and then stood off everything Arkansas tried to break the heralded poise of the Razorbacks and pull one of the big upsets of the bowls. Louisiana state was a 10-point underdog.

A crowd of 76,200 — the largest ever to see a Cotton Bowl game in its 30 years — sat under lowering skies and intermittent rain to watch the great passing attack and the pressing and attacking of Pat Screen Masters to keep a drive going. Arkansas of a second straight Cotton Bowl victory.

Missouri Slips By Florida 20-18

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — just before the end of the third quarter.

Charlie Brown, a near-sighted halfback, and a stingy defense that dominated the game for three periods led Missouri to a 20-18 victory over a desperate Florida aggregation in the sun-drenched Sugar Bowl Saturday.

Brown, who wears contact lenses when he plays, scored Missouri's first touchdown on a twisting 10-yard run, set up a second period field goal with a 15-yard sweep on his own right end and contributed a futile 45-yard sprint down the sidelines.

He was dumped on the 25 yard line and the slumbering Floridians, the greatest passing team in the history of the Southeastern Conference, suddenly came to life in the fourth quarter on the pitching of Steve Spurrier, who set three Sugar Bowl records.

All Florida touchdowns came in the final period with Spurrier's passing responsible for every point. Missouri 20 17 3 0-20 Florida 0 0 0 18-18

Tom Brown and Hart form an impressive secondary behind the front four of Willie Davis, Ron Kostelnick, Henry Jordan and Lionel Aldridge and the linebacking of Dave Robinson, Ray Nitschke and Leroy Cafferly.

Starr was racked up by Baltimore on the first play last Sunday and Zeke Bratkowski, a much traveled old pro, did the job. Although Bart has recovered from the injuries to his side and back it remains to be seen how effective he will be.

The Packers' best receivers are split end Boyd Dowler and flanker Carroll Dale, although Bill Anderson, a tight end who was picked up from Washington after retiring for a year, has been an important factor in late season.

Green Bay's vaunted ground game, built around Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung, has been disappointing all season.

The game may very well come down to kicking as it did a week ago. Don Chandler, who booted the tying and winning field goals against the Colts, has been a revelation since coming to the Packers from New York.

Chandler has kicked 17 of 26 field goals (not counting 2 of 3 in the playoff). Lou Groza, the 41-year-old Cleveland field goal artist who has been playing pro ball since 1946, had made good on 16 of 25 this year.

Unless there is an unexpected heavy precipitation Sunday morning the field should be in fine condition.

Blanton Collier's Browns are a fine offensive club with an attack built around the unstoppable Jim Brown, who rolled to 1,544 yards in winning his eighth rushing title in nine years. Oddly enough, this will be the first time Brown ever has played at Green Bay.

Brown's running makes the Cleveland ground game go. Their passing game has suffered all season by the absence of Paul Warfield, the ace split end who was such an important factor in winning the 1964 title.

Warfield suffered a broken collar bone in the College All-Star game in August. He played briefly Dec. 12 at Los Angeles but is due to make his first start Sunday.

With Warfield available, the Packers will not be able to double-team flanker Gary Collins as most teams have done all season. Collins was the big man for the Browns against the Colts last year, catching three touchdowns passes from Frank Ryan.

It is Cleveland's defense that gives pause to wonder about the Browns' chances. They have yielded 43 touchdowns, 12 on runs and 31 on passes. The deep defense of Bernie Parrish, Walter Beach, Ross Fichtner, Larry Benz, can be had by a passer of Bart Starr's ability.

Green Bay's success has been based on defense. They intercept passes at the right time. They pick up the fumble. They put a strong rush on the passer. Only 22 TD's have been scored against them in regular season play.

Herb Adderly, Willie Wood, An Arkansas fumble set up one Louisiana State touchdown and a poor kick gave LSU the opportunity to score again, but the Razorbacks rallied their defense for a glittering goal line stand and Doug Moreau missed a field goal from the Arkansas nine.

Arkansas, the No. 2 team in the nation, had hoped to become the national champion Saturday. Arkansas' great speed brought it a touchdown in the first period when Jon Brittenum threw to the fantastic receiving Bobby Crockett, who did a tightrope 12-yard run down the sidelines with a pass that covered 19 yards.

Seek Firm Progress

1965 was a pretty good year for moderates and a bad year for extremists, at home and abroad.

The "welfare state" issue is dead politically because, he believes, the great majority of Americans now believe the federal government has a responsibility to help create opportunity for its citizens.

Johnson considers himself back in good shape physically and ready to tackle the load ahead.

In Johnson's view, the major task faced by the world's nations in 1966 is to learn to "reason together" — one of his favorite phrases — from a realistic understanding of the world as it is.

He hopes the United Nations and other organs of international cooperation will try to improve their machinery for bringing disputes to the conference table at an early stage, before shooting breaks out.

Sees Bright Spots
While disappointed with the course of events in Viet Nam and avoiding any claim of great success in the Dominican Republic, Johnson does believe there were many bright spots around the globe in 1965.

In broad terms, he thinks there is a growing feeling throughout the world that for one nation to try to dominate another in pursuit of nationalistic or ideological goals is unwise and unlikely to succeed.

Johnson is convinced the cause of European unity and Atlantic cooperation still is very much alive and is supported by an overwhelming majority of Europeans and Americans.

He sees postwar realities and world conditions as dictating a strengthening rather than a splintering of Atlantic relationships.

Johnson, in 1966, wants progress on the Kennedy Round of tariff reductions, and movement toward nuclear cooperation among the Atlantic nations in ways that would help arrest the spread of nuclear weapons.

As for Eastern Europe, he believes the United States is responding to liberalizing forces in the Communist satellite nations in a responsible fashion — by encouraging the movement yet not overplaying its hand. He continues to see possibilities for more trade with Eastern Europe.

In Africa and in the Middle East, the President believes the cause of moderation and cooperation was strengthened in 1965 while extremism lost ground.

He believes American relations with the United Arab Republic and Algeria improved somewhat during the year.

River Crests, Some Arizonians Return To Homes
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Flood water continued pouring down the normally dry Salt River through Phoenix Saturday, but most persons evacuated earlier returned to undamaged homes.

Officials of the Salt River Project said the flow of the river will remain unchanged through midnight and they could not predict when it might be decreased.

They cited unstable weather conditions over the watershed for the six brimful reservoirs on the Salt and Verde rivers northeast of Phoenix. Some rain was reported at Roosevelt Lake Saturday morning.

About 500 persons, mostly farm laborers from Allentown, were being sheltered in the nearby Buckeye Elementary School about 35 miles southwest of Phoenix. The American Red Cross said their homes had more than one foot of water in them.

Most live in rented houses in a labor camp where they were forced to leave most of their possessions. Allentown, south of Buckeye borders the Gila River after the Salt River empties into it.

Several hundred Phoenix residents who spent the night at schools and churches were told to return to their homes after the water receded. Only a few riverbottom residential areas were flooded, and most of the 8,000 persons evacuated Friday were moved only as precautionary measure.

No resorts are in the flood area.

The only bridge across the Salt River in Phoenix was in danger of collapsing. Flood water poured away at the foundations and the bridge was closed to all but emergency traffic.

The only links between the north and south banks of the river in the Phoenix-Tampana Mesa area were the Tampana bridge and one lane of Interstate 19, a newly opened freeway, severely damaged by the flood in South Phoenix.

Traffic backed up for miles at the intersection of the Tampana bridge, which carries traffic for I-19, and Interstate 19.

Police in the Salt River area said it might take some time. Officials said they had to

Union Accepts Proposed Pact At Mathieson

EAST ALTON, Ill. (AP) — One of three striking unions at the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. plant in East Alton accepted Saturday a proposed contract that could end the month-old walkout threatening supplies of ammunition needed in Viet Nam.

The contract was ratified by members of the Western Employees Trade Council, representing 270 maintenance, transportation, power house and crane service employees. The vote was not announced.

Two other unions will vote on the tentative agreement, reached Thursday night in Washington, at 1 p.m. Sunday. They are the 3,800-member unit of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists and the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, representing 85 employees.

Some reduction in critical gunpowder stocks and a dwindling of ammunition supplies were caused by the strike. But the Pentagon emphasized that so far there has been no ammunition shortage in Viet Nam.

An Olin spokesman said that full production of gunpowder could be resumed in a day if the proposed contract is accepted by all three unions. He said full production of finished ammunition would take about a week.

The plant is the sole producer of some rifle bullets, tracer bullets and 20-millimeter cannon shells used in Viet Nam. The Army will reactivate its Badger Ammunition Plant in Baraboo, Wis., but it will take six months to begin manufacturing gunpowder there.

Neither Olin nor the Trades Council announced the terms of the new contract. A spokesman said details of the pact would not be announced until all unions have acted on the proposal.

Chief federal mediator William E. Simkin indicated in Washington Thursday that the company's latest contract offer was substantially above the last proposal, which included a 35-cent-an-hour increase over a three-year period.

Another Olin union, the AFL-CIO International Chemical Workers, ratified a three-year contract Dec. 23. The pact provided for a 35-cent-an-hour increase, plus a fringe benefit.

The four unions struck the plant Dec. 1. Only the United Mine Workers, representing 35 plant guards, remained on the job. Since approving their new contract, the chemical workers have honored the picket lines manned by the other three striking unions.

Humphrey Visits Asian Capitals On 'Peace Tour'

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey flew along the edge of the Bamboo Curtain Saturday and at each stop he bore down on one message: that the United States is willing to talk peace in Viet Nam at any time or place.

But peace, he said, did not mean appeasement and "The way for peace is for the aggressor to stop aggression."

This was the theme of his speeches as he flew from the muggy heat of Manila to Formosa, some 100 miles from Red China's shore, and then on to Seoul. South Korea, only 25 miles from Communist North Korea.

In pounding at the "peace is our goal" message, Humphrey appeared to be working the Asian beat as part of what the White House has called worldwide peace efforts.

Humphrey noted these "efforts around the world" in a special television statement on the armed forces network to the 50,000 American troops in Korea.

The United States, he said, is ready for peace but not at the price of "selling out another's freedom."

The U.S. purpose in Southeast Asia, he declared, is to make certain that aggression "shall not be the pattern of conduct. Let's make crystal clear for all time that aggression will be stopped."

Humphrey starts home Sunday to report to President Johnson.

Humphrey said he had never given a thought to any possibility that the Asian swing might enhance his own political prestige back in the United States. Humphrey said he had been given a job by the President "and I hope I did it well."

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market last week wound up trading for 1965 by advancing to new highs despite sharp losses early in the week.

The "traditional year-end rally" seemed pretty doubtful as of the close on Thursday when the week was a loser on balance. Under the leadership of steels, however, the list rallied vigorously on Friday, pushing two popular averages to historic highs as the trading year came to an end.

The Dow Jones industrial average this week rose 2.90 to 969.26, topping its Dec. 23 peak of 966.36.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 8 to 358.8, which bettered its previous closing record of 357.3 made on Dec. 22. It was the fifth straight weekly rise for the AP average.

The gains of both averages were narrow. On the final day, it was a selection of important blue chips which boosted the market indicators to their new highs, rather than a broad and enthusiastic upswing.

For the week as a whole, gainers outnumbered losers by 758 to 635 among the 1,552 issues traded.

Volume for the week was 35,164,470 shares compared with 32,224,961 for the four-day trading week previous shortened by the Christmas Eve closing of stock exchanges.

The question of peace or continued war in Viet Nam dominated Wall Street much of the time and on Friday the financial community was caught flat-footed by Bethlehem Steel's announcement that it was increasing the prices for structural shapes and piling by $5 a ton.

Steels immediately began to rise, some of them tagging on 1 or 2 points, and the bullish feeling spread to other sections of the list.

The failure of other steel companies immediately to go along with the Bethlehem price boost and the condemnation of the price action by Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, cooled down the steels which pared away most of their gains.

The week's trading was muddled by tax-loss transactions and switching, which are usual toward the end of a year.

U.S. Treasury bond prices declined completing a year in which bond prices of all kinds dropped sharply and yields on some issues rose to their highest levels in 40 years.

On the New York Stock Exchange corporate bond volume for the week was $56.02 million.

ACROSS THE FIELDS AND FURROWS
FARM PRODUCTION EXPENSES UP!
Farm production expenses in 1965 were estimated by the U.S.D.A. to total $30.2 billion in '65 reflecting a larger volume of purchased inputs as well as increases in unit costs of other items.

Feeder cattle prices were up. Wage rates were up although numbers of farm employees were down—in part due to the strict limitation on import of foreign workers.

Taxes continued to rise. Interest expenses were up but mainly because of increased amount of money borrowed. Farm debt is expected to total $4.4 billion as of January 1, up about 3 billion over a year ago.

Prices of fertilizer, pesticides and herbicides were relatively stable although amounts used increased. Fertilizer usage was estimated at 9% higher than last year.

Rowe In Contention For State Treasurer Berth On Ticket

By JOHN B. MARTIN

Political circles in Jacksonville have been buzzing for the past three weeks.

Statewide Republican Party leaders at least privately have their eyes on a Jacksonville man as a strong contender for the office of State Treasurer.

State Representative Harris Rowe is regarded as a leading contender for the office and local friends will see that no small effort is spared to culminate his nomination at a Republican conference Jan. 28 and 29.

Rowe is a "natural" to follow in his father's footsteps. Richard Yates Rowe, Sr. won the Republican nomination for State Treasurer just twenty years ago and with Vernon Nickell (Supt. of Public Instruction) carried 100 of the state's 102 counties in the general election.

Rowe is a "natural" to follow in his father's footsteps. Richard Yates Rowe, Sr. won the Republican nomination for State Treasurer just twenty years ago and with Vernon Nickell (Supt. of Public Instruction) carried 100 of the state's 102 counties in the general election.

Harris Rowe

Soon after Charles J. Percy announced that he would be a candidate for United States Senator, Rowe's name started to be mentioned among party officials throughout the state.

Supt. of Public Instruction Ray Page, at the present time, is expected to be the only serious candidate for that office and will be renominated without question.

State Treasurer William J. Scott cannot succeed himself but has not yet thrown his support in favor of any other potential candidate.

Other candidates for State Treasurer have announced their intentions and most are in the process of roaming the state talking with county chairmen and other party officials. None of the announced candidates thus far appear to be so-called "golden boys" in politics with exceptional voter appeal throughout the state. Most of the announced candidates are from the Chicago area.

Provide "Balance" Rowe would provide "balance" to the Republican ticket in November. Charles Percy is from the Chicago area. It is generally considered that Rowe would be "highly acceptable" if not "welcomed with open arms" to Percy and Page who, along with the candidate for treasurer, will be charged with the responsibility of spreading the message of Republicanism to the cities, villages and hamlets of the State of Illinois.

Republicans in November will make a concentrated effort to unseat U.S. Senator Paul Douglas and retain the two state offices now under Republican control.

Rowe said Saturday that if he could secure the endorsement of the statewide Republican conference in January for the office that he would actively campaign throughout the state in support of the entire Republican slate.

Both Percy and Page are personal friends of Rowe as well as political friends.

Well Qualified Rowe's qualifications are impressive. The 42-year-old attorney and legislator started his political career as a precinct committeeman, alderman, county chairman and representative. He has served three terms in the legislature. He is also vice president and secretary of Central National Life Insurance Company.

Rowe is currently "available" as a candidate ... his credentials will be presented before

Doctors Move To New Office On West Walnut

Two Jacksonville physicians whose practice is limited to the field of obstetrics and gynecology will open in a new location starting Monday.

Robert R. Hartman, M.D., and Richmond Simmons, M.D., said Saturday that they will open their new offices at 1515 West Walnut Monday morning.

Construction on the new office building began in early Spring. The building was designed specifically for a medical complex by Lundeen and Hilfinger, architects, of Bloomington. Edward Dale Crowcroft was general contractor for the project.

The building includes twelve rooms including a lobby, offices and examination rooms.

The building is located near Passavant Hospital and the Medical Center. Dr. Frank B. Norbury has an office building directly across the courtyard off West Walnut.

Fire Damages Car Friday

Fire, which was started by a gasoline leak in the engine, caused an estimated $1,000 damage to a late model car on West State street about 3:30 p.m. Friday.

Firemen said that the car, owned by Mrs. Floy Cannon of 921 West State, sustained damage to both front fenders, hood, power brakes and steering and various parts of the engine.

The vehicle, a 1960 Buick, was towed from the scene after firemen checked the spread of the fire.

Alien Address Report Underway

John M. Lehmann, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, reports that the annual alien address report program is again under way.

He pointed out that the address reports are required by law and willful failure to comply with these requirements may lead to serious consequences.

Forms with which to make the reports are available at all post offices and immigration offices. It is an easy matter to fill out one of the cards and return it to the same office.

Mr. Lehmann added that trained personnel will be on hand in all immigration offices to answer any questions the reporting alien may have regarding immigration and naturalization matters.

CITED AFTER ACCIDENT One driver was cited, and two cars damaged, in a traffic accident in the 500 block of South Main about two o'clock Friday afternoon.

Investigating city police noted that a car, operated by Janice A. Joutet of route two, Greenfield was making a left turn into the drive of the Voelkel glass company.

The Joutet car struck a northbound car on South Main driven by C. Dale Williams of 507 Webster. The driver of the Joutet car was cited for an improper turn.

Fire Loss For 1965 $60,000

Fire losses in Jacksonville for 1965 were about the same as the year previous according to preliminary figures released by Chief Dale W. Bond.

The department made a total of 288 runs during the year to save property valued at $687,000 and contents valued at $211,086.

The losses recorded were $27,362 to buildings and $32,602 to contents, a total of $59,964.

Ten out-of-town runs were made by the local department. Firemen investigated odors twice during the year during which they checked ten businesses or homes. The odors were attributed to the loss of gasoline and both instances were corrected.

Emergencies in 1965 were cataloged with all investigations according to the type of property involved. Total investigations were 17 and emergencies 35, most of which involved dwellings and vehicles.

The various calls listed for 1965 included: dwellings, 51; vehicles, 78; merchandise, 32; schools, 1; College dormitories, 7 (3 investigations and 4 false alarms); grass and brush fires, 23; garages and sheds, 7 (one business garage); apartments, 7; trailers, 2; office buildings, 3; nursing homes, 3 (all false alarms); service stations, 6; hospitals, 1; hotels, 1; misc., 20; resuscitator calls, 18 (12 of the people who needed oxygen or help in breathing are still alive).

Fire Chief Bond said he would compile an overall report for presentation before the Jacksonville city council sometime in January as soon as all figures are checked completely.

Driver Walks Off After Accident

A Jacksonville man walked away from an accident in the 100 block of East Washington Street about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Later, police delivered three tickets to his home.

Gary W. Stewart, 734 East State, was ticketed for reckless driving, having no driver's license, failure to do duty when striking an unattended vehicle.

Witnesses said Stewart was driving south on North Main and made a left turn onto Washington Street, struck a parked car next to Andrew's Lumber Company, then veered across the street and crashed into the loading platform of Jacksonville Ice and Cold Storage Company.

Stewart reportedly got out of his wrecked auto and walked home. The parked car is owned by Clarence H. Campbell, 569 Sandusky and received damage to the right rear. Some damage was reported to the loading platform.

Stewart's auto was towed from the scene with heavy front end damage.

Crime On Decrease In 1965

Crime decreased in Jacksonville in 1965, but traffic accidents rose over the previous year, according to a statement from Charles P. Runkel, police chief.

Runkel's report stated that "all types of crime are down in Jacksonville during the year 1965 as there were 355 offenses or crimes in 1964 and 236 in 1965, or a decrease of 199 offenses."

However, the report listed there were more traffic accidents in 1965 than the previous year.

Runkel said there were 437 reportable accidents with 167 injuries and five deaths in 1965. Reportable accidents are those in which the damage to any one vehicle is $100 or over, or results in injury or death.

"This is an increase of 42 accidents, 15 injuries and three deaths over 1964," the chief added.

December, the report continued, witnessed the highest number of accidents and January was listed as having produced the fewest.

Deaths in the city occurred August 22, a one car accident; September 19, a car and motorcycle; September 28, a pedestrian; October 9, a car and train; and October 20, a car and motorcycle.

Property damage was estimated at $174,800 to the vehicles involved in the accidents.

The police department answered a total of 8,590 calls during 1965, which does not include calls taken care of by telephone.

Total number of police radio transmissions to other law enforcement agencies was 1,150, excepting those to cars in the Jacksonville area or local station to station calls.

Chief Runkel noted that there were no, and the chief underlines no, murders in Jacksonville in 1965. But, there were four robberies, of which two have been solved. Six robberies took place in 1964.

There were 44 cases of burglary during the year, which was a decrease of 25 cases over 1964. This has been the fourth year that burglaries have decreased in the city.

Thirty-three vehicles were reported stolen, of which 14 were unfounded, and 18 cars were recovered. Runkel said that to date, one motorcycle is still missing.

The department checked 107 calls on vandalism; 30 persons were taken into custody, and 122 lost children were returned to their respective homes.

During the year, 54 bicycles were listed as lost or stolen and 59 were recovered. Runkel said that several bicycles were recovered that were not reported as missing, and some are still missing.

The police department checked 446 persons and 479 vehicles called in by citizens.

CAR PULLS, PUMP GIVES

An unidentified car left the Gulf station at Westgate and Merton about 2:30 p.m. Saturday with the gas pump following about ten feet behind.

Quick action by the station operator averted what could have been a serious fire.

It all started with the new automatic shut-off gas hoses. The car was filled, windows washed, oil checked and almost ready to go. The owner jumped into the car after payment for the gas and drove away. The station operator watched his pump suddenly leap after the auto. He forgot to remove the gas hose from the tank. He did, however, notify the fire department then used the fire extinguisher on a small fire that had developed.

When firemen arrived, the fire was out and so was the pump. They washed the spilled gasoline away with a booster line. Damage was confined to the pump.

White Christmas Topped Weather For December

Shirtelee weather during the holidays and a white Christmas contributed to that snug feeling of those who stayed in Jacksonville rather than journey to the southland between Christmas and New Year's.

The highest temperature for December was 67 on the 30th and the lowest was 15 on the 28th. Total precipitation was 1.60 inches. Snowfall measured about an inch, half of which was on the ground Christmas.

This was the good news from the U. S. Weather Bureau's co-operative observation station on the Old State Road. WLDs staff members keep a watchful eye on all the gauges and report their findings each month.

With the exception of higher rainfall than usual, 1965 wasn't much different than any other year. Temperatures averaged 53.8 degrees for the year, dropping below zero three times and soaring over ninety seven times. Jan. 30 was the coldest (9-below) and Aug. 15 the hottest (97).

Total precipitation was 40.76 inches, 10 1/2 inches more than 1964 and six inches above the yearly average.

$5,386 Donated To White Hall Hospital Fund

WHITE HALL — Stanley Thomas, president of the White Hall Hospital board, has announced that $5,386.58 was contributed during the recent drive for funds. Among large contributions received were those of William North of Venice, Florida, Mrs. W. T. Stickley, Cleveland, Ohio, Miss Ameda Ruth King, Champaign and Julius Meisenbach, St. Louis, all former residents of White Hall.

The late Carrie Worcester, who was vitally interested in the hospital, left the residue of her estate to the hospital after personal bequests to relatives and friends. Officials hope these funds will provide a basis for an expanded program.

The occupancy of the hospital hit a new high record for 1965 under the administration of George Stahl, who has had wide experience in the field of hospital management.

Frank Brown of Carrollton, technician at the hospital, expects to leave soon for duty with the Armed Services.

Members of the hospital auxiliary contribute to many hospital projects and direct a door-to-door solicitation during the hospital's drive for funds each year.

Miracle Of '66

One of the more significant stories of the year received only scant national attention recently. That was the prediction contained in the annual forecast by University of Michigan economists that "full employment" will be reached in the U.S. in 1966.

It was only four years ago, with unemployment running at 6.9 per cent of the labor force, that there was rising concern over the jobless picture, both in and out of government circles. Experts were fearful that the economy would not open up jobs as fast as new workers entered the labor market. Gloomy studies were prepared, warning that increasing technological development would soon leave vast armies of unemployed in its wake. Yet, here we are approaching a new year and the usually reliable University of Michigan forecast is talking about full employment in 1966.

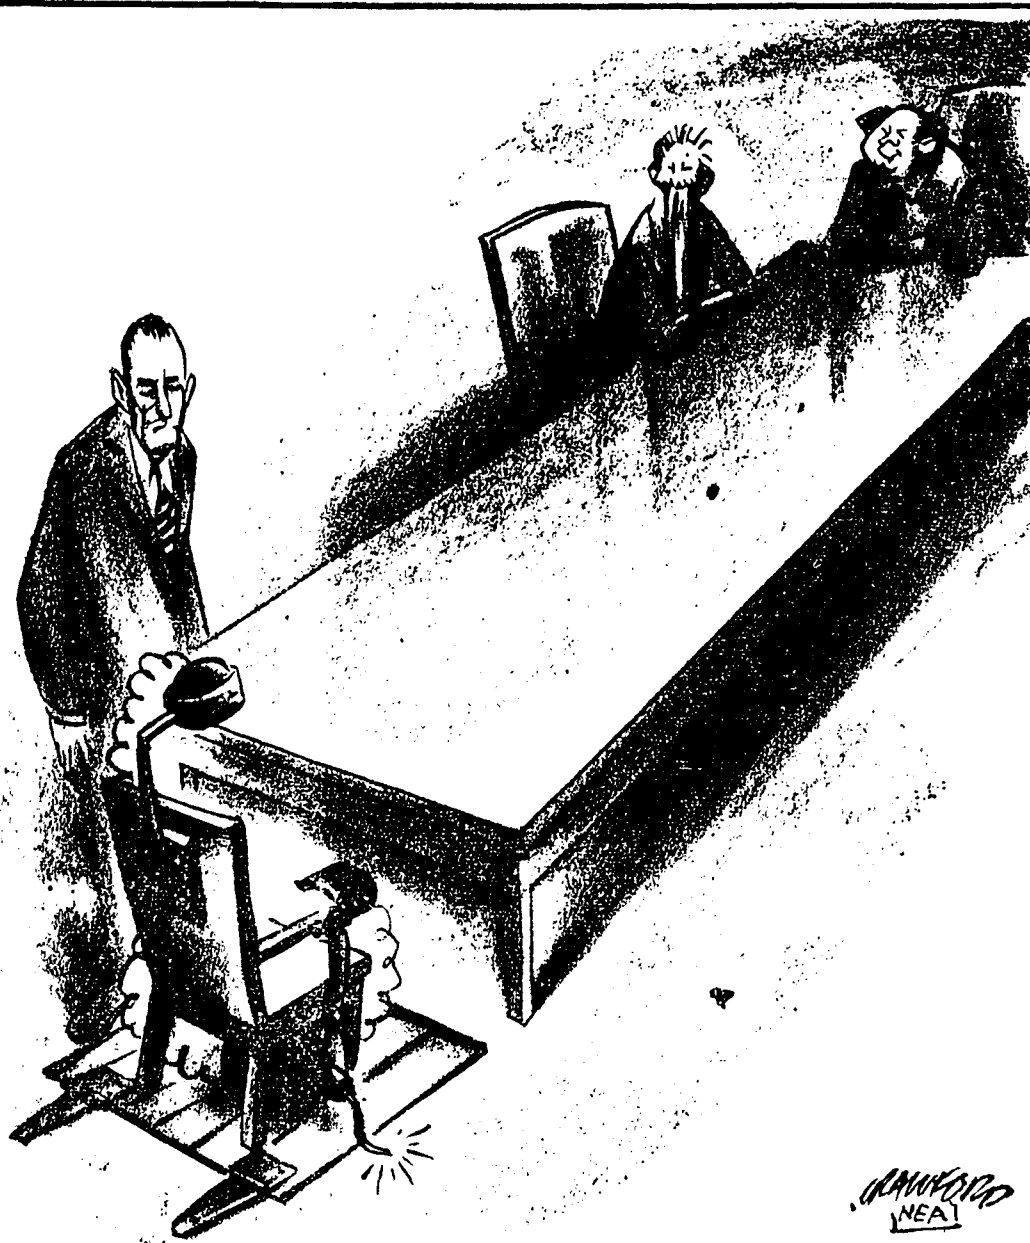

Of course, as with so many other labels in use these days, the term "full employment" is misleading. When labor economists use the term they are not referring to a situation in which every employable person in the U.S. has a job. What they mean is that when the unemployment rate falls to 4 per cent — or, according to some of them 3 per cent — we have full employment.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers agree on the 4 per cent level. But a few years back when Arthur Goldberg was labor secretary, he pegged it at 3 per cent, and added that even that is a high rate of unemployment.

Still, the remarkable period of prosperity this country has been experiencing for nearly five years shows no sign of slackening. The University of Michigan forecast expects the gross national product to increase another 6 per cent next year, creating about 1.5 million new jobs, or 400,000 above the predicted increase in the labor force. If 1966 does bring full employment by any definition, this nation will have achieved an economic miracle thought impossible only a few short years ago.

Our old friend "Hard Luck Joe" ruffed the second spade and promptly laid down his ace of clubs. Then he entered dummy with a diamond and finessed successfully against East's queen of clubs. Unfortunately for Joe, West showed out and Joe had to go down one trick.

"My usual hard luck," groaned Joe. "I play perfectly and still can't win a rubber."

If you readers remember our old friend, he does have plenty of hard luck but invariably he is responsible for it.

Joe should have made the hand by the simple expedient of going to dummy at trick two and leading the eight of clubs for a first-round finesse. This play would have cost him the singleton queen but it was still the correct play.

Do you see why?

Joe's play would have succeeded against the singleton queen in the West hand and the correct play would have lost. On the other hand, Joe's play failed against the singleton five-spot in the West hand and would also have failed against the singleton seven, four or deuce while the correct play would succeed in each of these four situations.

If dummy had happened to hold a third club and Joe only five, the play of the ace on the first round would have been correct. The reason for this is that Joe would still have been able to handle four trumps to the queen in the East hand because he would have still had two trumps in dummy, but he could not afford to try for that singleton queen.

FINDING THE WAY

Faith—and the New Year

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A Happy New Year to you! Can we wish that honestly and realistically? It ought to be a happiness that is more than just whistling in the dark or expressed as an empty optimism. There is a contentment that is implied in a "Happy New Year." It is the courage to believe there is a moral purpose to life.

There's so much unhappiness at the beginning of this year, because this moral certainty has slipped from us. There is a meaninglessness and an anxiety. With the late Paul Tillich, men ask:

"Can faith resist meaninglessness? Is there a kind of faith that can exist together with doubt and meaninglessness?"

"It's that quality of faith and that sturdiness of courage that enables a man to wish with integrity. 'A Happy New Year.'"

What we have to understand this year is that this does not mean that we are always going to have pleasant days or perfect moments. It simply means that in this world of the seemingly meaningless events, there is also the presence of a grace of God. We are not in the middle of these events alone.

One of my most trusted friends lived through years of physical wastage, times that drained his energy but never his faith. He could calmly say, "You can take your choice. Do you believe that at the heart of things is ugliness, tragedy, and evil—that truth, beauty, and goodness are only incidental—or do you believe that these are at the center, and that ugliness, tragedy and evil are the violations? Do you believe that the ultimate power of things conspires against a good man or co-operates with him?"

"I believe that there is a power which enables a man to overcome tragedy, works on his side in his search of his good life. . . . Such a man is not dependent upon shifting public opinion or external controls of any kind; he is moved motivated by and laid hold on by Him who is the way, the truth and the life."

Since I knew and loved that man, I read these words and try to translate them into the reality of the world I know. There is a reality here. It doesn't try to pretend or deny. It confronts this year, looks at the tragedy of war, is angry at the prejudice, hatred and the meanness of so much of life. But it refuses to accept the fact that we have to accede to these realities and be helpless. To wish one another "A Happy New Year" is to walk into this year with a sense of hopefulness and the determined integrity that comes to those who are sure of God's eternity and therefore are facing contemporary events with a security that breeds boldness.

It was said of Jesus, "Having loved his own, he loved them to the end." What that "end" is, can be variously interpreted. I am sure that when Jesus loves to the end the word does not have as much finality about it as when some of us say, "I'll put an end to it." It is an introduction to another sentence, another chapter, another experience. Hope is based on something which has actually happened and is willing to push ahead.

America needs men and women of courage who can reach down through the surface of these passing events to the rich soil of this accrued experience with the life of God and then sink new roots until we grow the strength that enables ourselves and others to stand happily in the battering winds of this present world. I wish you all — "A Happy New Year."

NO GOLDEN-VOICE CALLED

Wife Reminds Humphrey

By WASHINGTON STAFF
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Vice President Humphrey has been the butt of a good many "What-ever happened to Hubert?" gags lately, but he's taking them in good spirit.

Addressing a luncheon honoring the six civil service recipients of the 1965 Rockefeller Public Service Awards, Humphrey made the point that today's government worker is the dedicated sort who's in the business because he likes it.

"I am constantly reminded of this by my wife," Humphrey said. "Whenever I start to grouse, she points out that there wasn't really any voice from heaven crying, 'We need Hubert,' when I entered public service."

New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's 1966 re-election prospects now seem far better than they were a few months ago, due mainly to a good reaction to his current series of day-long "town meetings" in key areas throughout the state.

This reaction, coupled with impressive Republican gains in state and local elections last month, have caused several politicians to change their thinking about Rockefeller's political future. Among these is one Democratic up-state congressman, who not too long ago bragged to a veteran observer:

"We can beat Rocky with anybody who hasn't been indicted twice."

Firemen battled a stubborn fire in the W. T. Grant store on the east side of the square for 12 hours as the New Year arrived. The loss is expected to exceed $75,000. The Piggly Wiggly grocery to the north and the Kresge store to the south sustained considerable smoke and water damage.

The Chapin food locker plant, under construction near the southeast corner of the business section, was completely destroyed by fire Wednesday when an asphalt vat exploded. Officials of the newly formed cooperative put the damage at $15,000.

Ralph B. Reynolds, retired farmer and businessman, died Wednesday at the home of his son, Everett, southeast of Jacksonville. He was born here 86 years ago.

revolution posing unknown threats to the existing order." This is the awesome situation facing President Johnson as he strives for a settlement in Southeast Asia.

It is easy for those of us on the sidelines to sow the winds of criticism and "ride off in all directions." But any who voice dissent from current policies have an obligation to do so with restraint, and to keep what they say as free as possible from ideological or political axe-grinding.

It is important that before we speak we spend some time studiously trying to comprehend the maze of issues, with the idea of bringing forward constructive proposals instead of merely uttering divisive outcries. The avenues of dissent must remain open in a democratic society. But there is no room for petulance, nor for thoughtless carping, at this grave juncture in national and world history.

Dear Ann:

Friends' Speech Habits Criticized

By ANN LANDERS
Dear Ann Landers: Is there a tactful way to tell close friends that their speech habits get on your nerves?

My husband and I see quite a lot of a nice couple. Every time the wife opens her mouth she starts with, "I want to tell you something." We know she wants to tell us something. That is why she's talking.

Her husband has another little habit that drives us nuts, too. Whenever he finishes a sentence he adds, "Do you know what I mean?" My husband says this is an insult. Does he think we are morons? Why he means? Should we tell them of our irritation and hope they do something about it or will they think we are picking on them?

—PERTURBED
Dear Perturbed: If your friends used offensive language I would urge you to speak up. But the speech habits described in your letter (annoying though they may be) are part of the package and should be ignored.

Dear Ann Landers: Don't give me heck, Ann. I know I did wrong. What I need now is advice on how to get out of it. I went steadily with Stewart for three months. He was 18 and I was 15. I was so afraid of losing him that I did some things I'm sorry for. It almost killed me when he said he wanted to spend more time on his car.

When a week went by and Stewart didn't call I got so sick I told my mother I had the flu. It took me a whole month to accept the fact that I had been dumped.

Now a wonderful fellow named Nate has told me he'd like to take me out but he has heard such wild stuff about me from Stewart that he's going to think about it for a while. How can a girl overcome a bad reputation? Is there any way I can get that rat-fink Stewart to keep quiet? —MISS REGRETS

Dear Miss: No, Rat-finks talk. That's why they are called rat-finks. Conduct yourself like a lady and hope that Nate or some other nice young man will accept you for what you "are" and not what you "were".

Dear Ann Landers: Please don't regard this letter as an insult because I really think very highly of you. You make a lot of sense, Ann, but some of your advice is not practical. For example you say, "He needs psychiatric help." You know very well a person can't go up to a friend or relative and say, "Ann Landers

Confused About Hams?

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q — I am really confused about hams, picnics and butts. Is there really any difference between them?

A—Picnics and butts are not hams, although often erroneously so-called. They come from the shoulder, not from the hind leg as genuine hams do. The Boston butt is cut from the upper half or blade section of the pork shoulder. Bostons have the most lean meat of all pork cuts — 84 per cent.

The boneless smoked shoulder butt is made by curing and smoking the thick portion of the lean on the inner side of the blade bone. Many packers put this cut in a transparent wrap-straight roads.

per and sell it under a trade name.

Picnics, sometimes called Calis, are cut from the lower part of the shoulder and front leg. They have a higher proportion of fat, skin and bone than the Boston. Regular-style picnic includes the shank, which is largely skin and bone.

Many dead drivers were young. The boneless smoked shoulder butt is made by curing and smoking the thick portion of the lean on the inner side of the blade bone. Many packers put this cut in a transparent wrap-straight roads.

Prayed Negro, White Links Pose New, Thorny Issues

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The projected springtime White House Conference on Civil Rights is seen by some observers on the racial front as providing a chance for sorely needed improvement in dangerously edgy white - Negro relationships.

For all their effort, they seem largely unacceptable to the Negroes of Watts and similar big city ghettos.

The McCone report on the Watts riot in Los Angeles underlines the explosive part churning near the surface among alienated lower class urban Negroes.

Further evidence comes continuously from the harsh utterances of frustrated militant Negro leaders, who have stepped up their hammer blows on the white community as if trying to find a voice suitable to the people of Watts.

Says this observer: For all their effort, they seem largely unacceptable to the Negroes of Watts and similar big city ghettos.

Comedian Dick Gregory, no quiet moderate, is contemptuously dismissed by ghetto residents as among those Negroes "you whites try to choose for us as the leaders you think we ought to have."

Notwithstanding an expected spring avalanche of proposals affecting Negro prospects in jobs, housing, schooling, physical security and courtroom justice, the springtime White House parley may find the frayed links between whites and Negroes an imperative piece of business.

One civil rights observer suggests that, as a major move toward a new accommodation, conference authorities should write top spokesmen for such "white establishment" organizations as the National Association of Manufacturers, the American Bar Association, the American Legion, a variety of other civic and professional groups.

Says this observer: "These groups ought to be drawn into this, to be encouraged to see that the Negro problem is just as much theirs as it is a matter for government or civil rights organizations." The underlying notion is that the whole of white America is actually involved but that the necessary important initiatives can come only from the "power elements" which thus far have too often stood aloof from the struggle.

This same observer contends further that a collision between these elements and the stubborn realities of the Negro problem may persuade them that the social and economic costs of not solving it could ultimately prove a disastrous burden for the whole country.

A bluntly presented tally of the mounting tax load ascribable to Negro distress in America, particularly in the floundering cities, might stun "powering businessmen" who think of the problem as being somebody else's. They have a vital stake in real solutions.

At the same time, it is being argued here that Negroes for their part also need to exhibit a new spirit.

The substance of the most strident Negro responses today seems to be that white America has victimized the Negro for at least a century and that therefore, virtually the entire burden of correcting this condition must fall upon the white community.

White sympathizers with Negro aspirations, even as they realize they are increasingly suspect in today's strained situation, nevertheless insist that Negroes also must change in attitude and conduct if any kind of workable harmony is ever to be achieved in America.

The argument of one psychological specialist here is that the long history of warped white-Negro relationships has inevitably damaged both sides and that both in consequence must engage heavily in the repair process. While action alone, it is contended, will not give the Negro the place in society he seeks.

Sympathizers understand that this approach demands of Negroes a mature acceptance of criticism, a hard self-appraisal, and a new compassion for white Americans that cannot come easily to revolutionary spirits stirring after long decades of it is a matter for government

Mature Parent Reproach's Hidden Attack

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
When she was 12, her parents were divorced and her mother began her retreat into obsession with her ex-husband's disloyalty.

Gradually, out of this obsession, there developed a home atmosphere of vague and unspecific reproach. It wasn't that her mother ever openly attacked her for failing to wash a glass or tidy her room. No, as a child visitor to their home, I remember no open attack. There was just the weary voice, heavy with self-pity at the injustices imposed by the world saying, "I do wish, dear, you could be more considerate of mama."

As there was never any open attack, there could never be open defense. For to defend herself against anyone already so abused, so crushed by neglect, was morally impossible. You can't even attempt to explain your neglect of an unwashed glass to a mother obsessed with your father's neglect. So there was nothing to do with this constant, disguised fault-finding but accept it silently lest she seem to be adding her father's neglect for her room or the glass.

Accordingly, as she grew, she began to resist this helplessness imposed by unanswered reproaches. She resisted it by making other people wait for her. If her mother called her for dinner, there was always something else she had to do before joining her. If her friends made a theater of movie date with her, the performance would be half over before she joined them.

There was nothing anyone could do about this habitual lateness of hers any more than there was anything she could do about the satisfaction she got out of keeping you waiting. It gave her a sense of power over others that helped to relieve the helplessness imposed by unanswered reproaches.

I recount her story for a reader who writes: "My 14-year-old boy is never on time for anything. He always has something else he has to do before coming to the table. He keeps his friends waiting, too. I try to tell him that he will lose them if he's never ready to go with them when they come by to pick him up. His dawdling has always been a problem. It is still like pulling teeth to get him up in time for school."

I can only wonder if he, too, has been the receiving end of reproach's disguised attack. None of us, I think, can live with reproach's disguised attack tall.

without resisting it. None of us enjoy helplessness. So, if we're not allowed to resist reproach openly, we resist it secretly — and one of our revengeful tactics is to make others wait for us.

Nope, things aren't like they used to be and that includes you.

There is a group of parents who exaggerate the importance of being at the very top, and therefore create in their children the idea that high achievement isn't good enough—it's got to be the highest achievement.

We have made mistakes, but you have probably made mistakes, too. Not all your troubles are the fault of the United States and nothing the United States can do will solve all your problems.

LOT OF SASSAFRAS

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — Standing on the lawn of Dr. O. W. Rashi's home is the largest known sassafras tree in the world.

The 250-year old giant, whose claim has been substantiated by the American Forestry Association, measures 18 feet in circumference and is 90 feet with reproach's disguised attack tall.

A winter cold is nothing to sneeze at — especially among other people.

It almost seems as if trees and telephone poles are there to teach traffic safety lessons—the hard way.

A truly self-sacrificing woman can pass up anything—except a mirror.

DRIFTING SNOW

Snowflakes are drifting down. From the sky to the ground. Snowflakes are fun. For me and everyone. Big ones, small ones, tiny ones too.

They were made for me and you. Building snowmen here and there.

Now they are everywhere. Snow has covered the trees you see.

What a pretty sight for you and me. It's more fun outside than in you know.

So come on and let's go. It gives me a feeling of fun. And I hope it does for every one.

NEW STATION—The United States is establishing a new scientific outpost on a remote, windswept plateau 11,500 feet high on Antarctica's interior plateau. Four scientists and four Navy men will seek information about antarctic weather; the earth's magnetic field; naturally produced, very low frequency radio signals near the earth, and the aurora australis, or "southern lights." The climate is rigorous, with temperatures expected to reach as low as minus 130 degrees (F.) during the antarctic winter beginning in March. Newsmag locates the new station, halfway between the South Pole and the Antarctic Circle, and other major bases of the United States, Soviet Union and other nations active in antarctic research.

THE COMPUTER FIGHTS CRIME—The impact of computer technology is now making itself felt in crime fighting. Police forces throughout the country are enlisting electronic brains. One of the most effective uses is proving to be on the highways. The Pennsylvania State Police have put into operation a computer information system said to be the fastest and most accurate yet. When a cruising state trooper spots a suspicious-looking motorist, top, he first checks by radio with the nearest station. The query is fed by teletype to the communications center at Harrisburg, lower left, which checks the license number against the computer's "memory" of some 2,500 stolen vehicles, lower right. If the car turns out to be wanted, the trooper receives the answer within minutes and stops the car for the arrest.
